

The Administration has decided to send a gentleman from Maine to the Sandwich Islands to represent the U. S. Government as resident Minister. The editor of the APPEAL extends his thanks to Senators Jones and Stewart and Congressman Bartine for uniting on a recommendation of his application for the position, and unites with all good Republicans in wishing the new appointee a pleasant voyage to Honolulu and a royal reception at the Court of Kilauea.

A queer museum is connected with the dead letter office, where curious articles that come in the mails, and cannot be restored, are placed on exhibition. All around the room are placed cabinets, in which the articles are placed. Among them can be found a display of toys, jewelry and pictures. One of the rarest of the curiosities is a sheet of parchment, on which is penned the Lord's Prayer in fifty four languages. It came to this country from England in the mail in 1842, and as no trace of its owner could be discovered, it was sent to the dead letter office. It is said to be a duplicate of a parchment which hangs in St Peter's at Rome. A beautiful crucifix of solid gold rests in a case in one cabinet. It reached the office marked "unclaimed" from a Southern post office. For whom it was intended is not known. A lady's fan made of stork feathers, the plumes being rarer and richer than the finest ostrich plumes, is without question the prettiest thing in the whole collection. It is a magnificent fan and no doubt graced the costume of some court beauty of the old world. In one of the cabinets, partly concealed in an envelope, is a lock of dark-brown hair. An inscription reads: "This is a lock of my hair. Chas. Guiteau." It was put into the mail by the assassin of President Garfield.

It was wired the other day that the Secretary of the Navy had ordered all the war ships of the United States to be painted white. Now the reason for this order comes in the Philadelphia Times as follows: "It has been found that iron and steel vessels, when painted black, have been unnecessarily hot, and to do away with this discomfort, as well as to improve the looks of the vessel, white has been decided upon as the color for the navy. Especially is this color considered a serviceable one when cruisers are doing duty in tropical climates. The coat of white will do much to prevent the absorption of heat that these vessels are liable to, and thereby greatly increase the comfort of officers and crew and improve the sanitary condition of the vessel."

Of the many lives lost during the Conemaugh flood there was but one, Mrs. Caroline E. Wilson, who held a life policy in the Order of Chosen Friends.
